I am an independant programmer, and as such feel that I represent the general public to a fair degree. My longstanding suggestion for a Microsoft remedy is at ftp://linux01.gwde.de/pub/cLIeNIX/interim/amicus_curae and <http://www.uwsg.iu.edu/hypermail/linux/kernel/0107.1/0088.html> or websearch for "Hohensee" combined with "Compromising Microsoft" and/or "Microsft's word".

Suffice it to say that what I think might actually be remedial bears little resemblance to the current active proposal, and that this could eventually be addressed by national legislatures around the globe.
